

TAILOR-MADE TRAVEL

A group of four students, two men and two women, are walking away from the camera on a cobblestone path. They are wearing backpacks and casual clothing. In the background, there are lush green trees and a building with a prominent tower and a conical roof.

SUA Study Travel

My Journey

I'm Marcia Boot, founder of SUA Travel Connections. Since the age of 16, I've been travelling, immersing myself in new cultures and pursuing my studies abroad — from São Paulo to Okinawa, Japan, where I was welcomed into my grandparents' home, marking the start of 13 years in Tokyo, the first seven as a student. In 2001, I settled in London, where I worked as a personal assistant to multinational executives before moving into roles in tour operations and international education marketing.

The Company

I founded SUA Travel Connections in 2008, bringing together years of experience in tourism and international education. We're a London-based DMC specialising in the Brazilian market, working across two strands: SUA Travel DMC, serving corporate and leisure clients B2B, and SUA Study Travel, supporting agencies that recruit students for language schools, universities and other international programmes. Personalised service and dedicated on-the-ground support are at the heart of what we do.

Today

Over 18 years, we've built a strong network through active association membership and participation in trade fairs and events across the UK and beyond. Having built deep relationships with agencies throughout Brazil, we're now entering a new phase of international expansion — because growth is built together, with every agency and professional who walks alongside us.

Every professional involved in our tours, in the schools, in group supervision and even our drivers undergoes rigorous DBS checks, a UK government service that allows employers to check whether a person has a criminal record that would make them unsuitable to work with children. In addition, all facilities strictly follow the safety requirements set out in law, guaranteeing a safe and secure environment for all students. Finally, we are continually engaged in training.
